

Acts: Learning How to Church
Breaking Down Barriers
Acts 10

My Questions & Thoughts:

⌘ Sometimes, good intentions lead to unintended implications

⌘ We need to see people the way that God sees them

Our Take-away:

Questions for Life Group or Personal Reflection

⌘ The point I pondered or protested from this week's message was:

⌘ How do you feel when forced to speak with someone you don't know? How is that feeling compounded when the person you have to interact with is different from you?

⌘ Have you ever had an experience like Peter where God used unique circumstances (maybe repeated promptings) to challenge you to open your heart? Jot down what you learned from that experience.

⌘ Acts 10:34-35 makes clear the way God looks at all people who choose to follow him. How do these verses impact the way you see some of the "different" people in your world? How does your understanding change your interactions with others?

⌘ Pray. Maybe God wants to reshape your thinking. Maybe there is an area you want to grow. Maybe there's someone you want God to reach with the message and life of Jesus.
