I delivered to you as of first importance what I also received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the Scriptures, that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures, and that he appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve. Then he appeared to more than five hundred brothers at one time.

How Much Theology Do I Have to Know to Be a Christian?

WEDNESDAY

Epistle Project: 2 Corinthians 11:1-15

“For such men are false apostles, deceitful workmen, disguising themselves as apostles of Christ,” (2 Cor. 11:13). These false apostles had come into the Corinthians’ church from the outside like the serpent did in the Garden. Paul feared that the Corinthians would be deceived, as Eve was, and they would “be led astray from a sincere and pure devotion to Christ,” (2 Cor. 11:3). The life of a believer is to be one that has a “sincere and pure devotion to Christ.” Pray and ask the Lord to remove anything from your life that would distract you from having a pure and sincere devotion to Christ.

THURSDAY

Epistle Project: 2 Corinthians 11:16-33

The Christian life is a life that is fully dedicated to accomplishing the purposes of God in this world through our lives. For all of us, that life will involve various hardships, and for some of us more than others. Paul describes his sufferings for the sake of the gospel in 2 Cor 11, when he says he went through “imprisonments, with countless beatings, and often near death. Five times I received at the hands of the Jews the forty lashes less one. Three times I was beaten with rods. Once I was stoned... in toil and hardship, through many a sleepless night, in hunger and thirst, often without food, in cold and exposure.” After all of this, Paul eventually concludes in 12:9, “I will boast all the more gladly of my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may rest upon me. For the sake of Christ, then, I am content with weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions, and calamities. For when I am weak, then I am strong.” May we also, in all of our weaknesses and hardships for the spread of the gospel, rejoice in the strength of Jesus Christ amidst our weakness.

FRIDAY

Epistle Project: 2 Corinthians 12:1-10

How do you tend to think about your struggles in life? If we’re honest, most of us would say that we naturally grumble and complain about them. But what if we allowed the Bible to inform the way we see these things instead of responding in our flesh? How would that change your outlook? In this passage, we see that Paul was given a thorn in his flesh in order to keep him humble and dependent upon the grace of God. We learn, in fact, that Christians must be content in their weaknesses because that is the very place for which the power of Christ will work. So, dear Christian, whether you face physical ailments, mental turmoil, or are being buffeted by trials, understand that God’s grace is there for you, and that you have an opportunity to rely on Him so that the power of Christ would be seen by all through you.

SATURDAY

Epistle Project: 2 Corinthians 12:11-21

“Even though I am nothing,” (2 Cor. 12:11). Paul, having persecuted the church, considered himself to be the “least of the apostles,” (1 Cor. 15:8-9). Paul knew that he owed everything to the grace of God and the call of God in his life. Paul was writing this in response to the “super-apostles,” (note Paul’s sarcasm) the false apostles who were causing trouble in the church by teaching a false gospel. In verse 12 Paul reminds them that “the signs of a true apostle were performed among” them. The Corinthians had seen a true apostle and Paul reminds them to contrast the true with the false. Today there are still false teachers who teach a different Jesus and a false gospel. Christians can know the true from the false because we have Scripture. Pray and ask the Lord to give you a renewed enthusiasm for the reading and study of Scripture so that you would be able to more effectively discern the true from the false.
