FINANCES

Money gets to be a difficult subject and matter to handle whether you have much or very little. We are called to honor God with our finances again, whether big or small. This can be a divisive subject in marriages and relationships but it's very important to handle this well. Matthew tells us that where your treasure is there your heart will be also.

Personal finance can be one of the greatest witness tools that we have. We see all through scripture not to be people in debt to others and so we see precedence to live debt-free. Easier said than done but no matter where you're at in your personal finances you're not too far gone. The best way to begin walking this out is one step at a time. A mountain of debt won't disappear overnight but with taking a look at our hearts and our treasures we can begin taking steps to form healthy life habits that allow us to honor God with our finances.

You may be sitting there wishing you could get more financial margin in your life. If you'd like to take control of your money, these resources can help. As a church, we want to share practical steps/plans that can help you discover God's way of handling money. We want to empower you to get on a budget, get out of debt, save for the future, and take control of your money.
