Discussion Questions:

1. Read 1 Corinthians 8:13. Share an example of how a Christian today might cause another Christian, someone with a weaker faith, to stumble?
2. Many things that Christians participate in are morally neutral. Can you think of something you enjoy today with your freedom of Christ that you once found difficult to do? If so, please share. On the other hand, is there something that violates your conscience now that you once found no difficulty doing? If so, please share.
3. Read 1 Corinthians 10:14-11:1. Why is regular participation in communion as a church so important? You might refer back to Sunday's message.
4. What are some practical ways that we can keep one another accountable in the body of Christ without imposing our own individual standards?
