THE SUFFERINGS OF CHRIST

“If Christ had died only a bodily death, it would have been ineffectual. No—it was expedient at the same time for him to undergo the severity of God’s vengeance, to appease his wrath and satisfy his just judgment. For this reason, he must also grapple hand to hand with the armies of hell and the dread of everlasting death.”

“And surely no more terrible abyss can be conceived than to feel yourself forsaken and estranged from God; and when you call upon him, not to be heard. It is as if God himself had plotted your ruin. We see that Christ was so cast down as to be compelled to cry out in deep anguish: “My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?” [Ps.22:1; Matt. 27:46]…. Therefore, by his wrestling hand to hand with the devil’s power, with the dread of death, with the pains of hell, he was victorious and triumphed over them, that in death we may not now fear those things which our Prince has swallowed up [1 Peter 3:22, Vg].

John Calvin
Institutes of the Christian Religion,
The CENTRALITY of the cross

1. “I decided to know nothing among you except Jesus Christ and him crucified” (1 Cor. 2:2).

2. Lord’s Supper liturgical word: “For as often as you eat this bread and drink the cup, you proclaim the Lord’s death until he comes” (1 Cor. 11:26).

3. “For I delivered (παραδίδωμι) to you as of first importance what I also received (παραλαμβάνω): that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the Scriptures” (1 Cor. 15:3).
   a. Apostolic tradition

4. “For the word (λόγος) of the cross (σταύρος) is folly to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God” (1 Cor. 1:18)
   a. logos and rhema? Fact and interpretation

The FACTS of Christ’s Suffering

1. The “Suffering Servant” (Isa. 52:13 – 53:12).
   a. The whole of Christ’s life was suffering. It is not limited to the cross.
   b. “he humbled himself by becoming obedient to the point of death, even death on a cross” (Phil. 2:8)
   c. Active and Passive Obedience

   Louis Berkhof, Systematic Theology, 379-380
   “The two accompany each other at every point in the Saviour’s life. There is a constant interpretation of the two. . . .

   “Christ’s active and passive obedience should be regarded as complementary parts of an organic whole.

   John Murray, Redemption: Accomplished and Applied, 20-22
   “[We cannot] allocate certain phases or acts of our Lord’s life on earth to the active obedience and certain other phases and acts to the passive obedience. The distinction between the active and passive obedience is not a distinction of periods. It is our Lord’s whole work of obedience in every phase and period that is described as active and passive, and we must avoid the mistake of thinking that the active obedience applies to the obedience of his life and the passive obedience to the obedience of his final sufferings and death.”

“The real use and purpose of the formula is to emphasize the two distinct aspects of our Lord’s vicarious obedience. The truth expressed rests upon the recognition that the law of God has both penal sanctions and positive demands. It demands not only the full discharge of its precepts but also the infliction of penalty for all infractions and shortcomings. It is this twofold demand of the law of God which is taken into account when we speak of the active and passive obedience of Christ. Christ as the vicar of his people came under the curse and condemnation due to sin and he also fulfilled the law of God in all its positive requirements. In other words, he took care of the guilt of sin and perfectly fulfilled the demands of righteousness. He perfectly met both the penal and the preceptive requirements of God’s law. The passive obedience refers to the former and the active obedience to the latter.

d. From the beginning there is passive as well as active obedience.

2. Social:

   a. The Chorus of Derision

      i. “And those who passed by derided him, wagging their heads and saying, ‘Aha! You who would destroy the temple and rebuild it in three days, save yourself, and come down from the cross!’ So also the chief priests with the scribes mocked him to one another, saying, ‘He saved others; he cannot save himself.’” (Mark. 15.29-32).

      ii. Christ as a social being: Cf. Mark 3:14, calling the “twelve,” – “so that they might be with him.”

3. Physical:

   a. Flogging: In MARK (15:15; cf. Matt. 27:26), the flogging occurs immediately after Pilate delivers the capital sentence whereas JOHN (19:1) speaks of a flogging before the sentence is passed.

   b. Crucifixion:

      i. How much emphasis should we place on the physical brutality of it? Those who first read the gospels would have been familiar with the crucifixion process and would not have need as much details as we do today. We must give some background information.

ii. The experience of death: separation of body and soul.

iii. He died relatively quickly: his legs were not broken (John 19:31)

4. Emotional/Psychological/Spiritual/Demonic:
   b. “When I was with you (JUDAS) day after day in the temple, you did not lay hands on me. But this is your hour, and the power of darkness” (Luke 22:53).
   c. Desertion by the Father: Matt. 27:46, Mark 15:34 (Psa. 22:1): “My God, My God, why have you forsaken me?”
     i. Descent into Hell clause of Apostles’ Creed
     ii. “Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us—for it is written, “Cursed is everyone who is hanged on a tree” (Gal 3:13).
     iii. “he made him to be sin” (2 Cor. 5:21).
   iv. The unity of the Godhead was not broken
   v. The Father does not cease to love him
   vi. The Father did not cease to uphold him.
   vii. Is the ‘why’ a word of inquiry and interrogation or an outburst of pain.
   viii. God withdrew all comfort
   ix. He viewed himself as a sinner

(Historical) conclusions—drawn from the facts

1. His suffering were penal
2. His sufferings were utterly anomalous
   a. Because he was sinless
   b. Because he was the Son of God.
   c. Because of the role of God the Father
Our Missionaries- February 5, 2014, 2014

Jeff and Lisa King- Chile

- We are praising the Lord that Jeff had an opportunity on Thursday to share some of the concerns about the condition of the center with the director of Youth for Christ. He agreed with what needs to be done. There are still a lot of questions regarding what will happen next and how and when the improvements will begin, but at least we feel like we are same page with the Youth for Christ personnel.
- Jeff and our teammate Terry have begun to do the survey work this week. The first part of the survey work means they are walking up and down lots of hills to survey the area - where are the stores, the churches, and just getting to know the general layout of the surrounding area of the center. Hopefully in the next few weeks they will start meeting with some local pastors to see what kind of work is already being done in the area. Please pray for this survey work and that the Lord will be clear on the work He wants us to start at the Youth Center.
- Continue to pray for our church search. Last week we attended a church plant that is happening by PCA missionaries. While we enjoyed the church very much, it is a bit far away from our house to truly be involved.
- Pray for us as we adjust to Jeff being gone more often. Especially the children - they have been used to Jeff being around a lot and so now that he is gone, it makes them upset some.

Dough and Alleene Kratch- World Team

- Pray for Doug as he edits, edits and does more editing.
- Pray for child-like trust to carry us to the completion. The task is plain. The task is large and therefore a bit daunting.
- Pray for perseverance for to bring the completion of the series. We hope that by April 2014 to have the project wrapped up.

Peter and Rebecca Jones- truthxchange

As the Lord leads you, please pray for:

- God's blessing on our board, steering committee and staff as we seek the right path forward for truthXchange (staffing, financing, projects etc.); we so desperately need to establish the ministry for the generation to come and are eager to hire two young men that God has called to work with us.
- Spiritual protection on all those involved in researching paganism.
- Efficiency and an energetic work ethic (while not becoming stressed out or fearful) as we try to accomplish so much with so few.
- The right people and the right number of people to attend our Think Tank, February 4-7, 2014 ("Shining as Lights: Telling the Truth in the Pagan Utopia"-If you know Christian leaders, young or old, male or female, who would benefit from this event, please encourage them to register).
- Just the right financial support- not so much that we think we can depend on it (!) but not so little that we are hampered in accomplishing the tasks God is calling us to do for His kingdom.
- The launch of our first online course, through Blue Letter Bible Institute (They have a wide distribution and are glad for our content. So it is a good partnership. I have completed this first course and am working on the next one.)
- Wisdom as we seek the right approach and modes of fundraising; and also, an opening on the part of some of the large foundations as we seek grants;
- Faithfulness to the Lord, his Christ, his church, his Spirit and his Word in all that we do, whether in study, activity or worship;
Where does He want her to be? Pray.

University and Covenant College: Pray for the next generation of Christian leaders and missionaries.

A greater zeal to spread the gospel of God’s grace to those millions who do not yet know Him. Pray courage to open our mouths and let out what is in our Christian hearts.

“The Scripture regards the work of Christ as one of obedience and uses this term or the concept that it designates, with sufficient frequency to warrant the conclusion that obedience is generic and therefore embracive enough to be viewed as the unifying or integrating principle.”

“Dismissing his doctor's orders, J. Gresham Machen, beaten down by a career of struggling for the Faith even within his own communion, kept his commitments to a small circle of Orthodox Presbyterian parishes in South Dakota. "I have too much to do," he insisted, as his chest was even then tight from pneumonia. The next day, however, Machen was hospitalized. On New Year's Eve, the host pastor visited this infamous opponent of Liberalism on his deathbed and the elder statesman related a dream he had enjoyed that made him long for Heaven. "Sam, it was glorious, it was glorious," he said. "Sam, isn't the Reformed Faith grand?" Just before he passed into the next world, Machen dictated a telegram to John Murray, professor of systematic theology at Westminster Seminary. These last words read, "I'm so thankful for the active obedience of Christ. No hope without it.”

1. Obedience

   a. Romans 5:19, “For as by the one man’s disobedience the many were made sinners, so by the one man’s obedience the many will be made righteous.”

      i. All humanity hangs on either the disobedience of Adam or the obedience of Christ.

   ii. Background:

      1. “Servant” motif in Isaiah (e.g. 42:1; 52:13 – 53:12). See Phi. 2:7 where Paul states Christ came as the morphe doulou (see discussion above). In Mark 10:45 Jesus states that he came to give his life as a ransom for many, referring back to Is. 53 and the Suffering Servant.

      2. The disobedience of Adam and the covenant of works. From this perspective, the atonement is viewed as a fulfilment of the covenant of works on our behalf. The anomaly is that his obedience is punished with death. Why?

      3. Covenant of Redemption (Psa. 2; Isa. 53:10-12; Eph. 1:3-14 (Trinitarian exposition of redemption).

      4. Doctrine of the Trinity:

         a. Opera ad extra trinitatis indivisa sunt

         b. Appropriation

         b. The death of Jesus as covenantal: “a solemn and binding relationship with blessings and obligations.”

            i. Jesus viewed his own work as covenantal: “This cup… is the new covenant in my blood” (Luke 22:20; 1 Cor. 11:25).

   c. Christ was made under the law

      i. Gal. 4:4, “God sent forth his Son, born of woman, born under the law.” He was to obey the Torah in all its details, including his active obedience and his taking the curse of the law. He is under the stipulation of compliance and the vulnerability or liability of the curse of the broken law.
1. Active and Passive obedience?

a. “The two accompany each other at every point in the Saviour’s life. There is a constant interpretation of the two. . . . Christ’s active and passive obedience should be regarded as complementary parts of an organic whole. (Louis Berkhof, Systematic Theology, 379, 380).

b. “[We cannot] allocate certain phases or acts of our Lord’s life on earth to the active obedience and certain other phases and acts to the passive obedience. The distinction between the active and passive obedience is not a distinction of periods. It is our Lord’s whole work of obedience in every phase and period that is described as active and passive, and we must avoid the mistake of thinking that the active obedience applies to the obedience of his life and the passive obedience to the obedience of his final sufferings and death. The real use and purpose of the formula is to emphasize the two distinct aspects of our Lord’s vicarious obedience. The truth expressed rests upon the recognition that the law of God has both penal sanctions and positive demands. It demands not only the full discharge of its precepts but also the infliction of penalty for all infractions and shortcomings. It is this twofold demand of the law of God which is taken into account when we speak of the active and passive obedience of Christ. Christ as the vicar of his people came under the curse and condemnation due to sin and he also fulfilled the law of God in all its positive requirements. In other words, he took care of the guilt of sin and perfectly fulfilled the demands of righteousness. He perfectly met both the penal and the preceptive requirements of God’s law. The passive obedience refers to the former and the active obedience to the latter. (John Murray, Redemption: Accomplished and Applied, 20-22)

d. Christ acted under clear commands from his Father

i. In John, Jesus repeatedly speaks of the work that the Father gave him to do, the glorious reward that he was promised, and the sending of the Spirit to apply the benefits of his redemption and bring about in fact the promised reward of a redeemed people, that was merited by the Son’s unerring obedience to the Father (see John 5:17-31, 36-37, 43; 6:37-40, 57; 7:28-29, 38-39; 8:16-19, 26-29, 38, 42, 49-54; 9:4; 10:14-
e. Christ was “sent into the world”

i. John. 17:4, “I glorified you on earth, having accomplished the work that you gave me to do.” This is how we are to understand the cry ‘tetelestai’ in John 19:30.

f. Christ’s death was the climax of his obedience

i. “And being found in human form, he humbled himself by becoming obedient to the point of death, even death on a cross.” (Phi. 2:8)

 ii. Active and passive obedience? We cannot separate these chronologically with the active obedience ceasing at the Cross. The Bible shows Christ as being active in his dying. He lays down his life, “No one takes it from me, but I lay it down of my own accord. I have authority to lay it down, and I have authority to take it up again. This charge I have received from my Father.” (John 10:18; cf. Eph. 5:1, 20; Gal. 2:20).

 iii. Older theologians may have stated that his dying was not simply a priestly act but also a kingly act; see WSC 26—restraining and conquering. King destroys our enemies (cf. Heb. 2; Col. 2:15). At no point is he a mere passive victim. He is engaged in a deliberate, resolute, voluntary, powerful, act; he is in control of his own death.

2. Sacrifice

a. No tension between obedience and sacrifice: “[he] offered himself without blemish to God.”

b. Evidence that Christ’s death was a sacrifice

i. John. 1:29, “Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world!” (what is John referring to? Abraham/Isaac, Passover, Isaiah 53:7 (lamb led to the slaughter)). Note “sin” in the singular.

 ii. 1 Cor. 5:7 “Christ, our Passover lamb, has been sacrificed (πάσχα)”.

1. Debates among theologians whether the Passover was a sacrifice, because the lamb was not placed on the altar. But, the essential point is that the Passover lamb was killed and redemption came through the protection of the blood. There is a link between this paradigmatic OT redemption, the sprinkling of the blood, no unleavened bread in the homes during this feast, etc. There is implicit in this a statement of the nature of the Christian life. The ban of the unleavened as a temporary ban on the yeast was temporary, but for Paul it is never relaxed; it’s year round. The Christian life is one unending Paschal feast. We live in the Paschal celebration.

iii. Eph. 5:2, “Christ loved us and gave himself up for us, a fragrant offering and sacrifice (θυσίαν) to God.”

1. The primary direction of the work of Christ is God-ward. Who is the sacrifice of Christ to influence? Primarily the observers who are moved by the example of Jesus, the demonic world? No, he gave himself to God for us.

2. Two sacrificial words: a generic term of oblation (something placed before God, an offering), but it also is a bloody oblation (specific). This brings us back to 1 Cor. 5. The total sacrifice of Christ.

iv. 1 Pet. 1:18-21, “knowing that you were ransomed from the futile ways inherited from your forefathers, not with perishable things such as silver or gold, but with the precious blood of Christ, like that of a lamb without blemish or spot. He was foreknown before the foundation of the world but was made manifest in the last times for the sake of you who through him are believers in God, who raised him from the dead and gave him glory, so that your faith and hope are in God.”

v. Rev. 1:5; 5:6, 9; 7:14, 15 etc.

vi. Heb 9:12 “he entered once for all into the holy places, not by means of the blood of goats and calves but by means of his own blood, thus securing an eternal redemption.” (cf. 10:11-14).

c. The category of sacrifice

i. Ascribes to the death of Christ the status and efficacy of the Levitical sacrifices

1. Cf. “Christ died in accordance with the Scriptures” (1 Cor. 15:3). This justifies the typological use of the OT sacrificial system; tabernacle, temple are an x-ray plate of the cross of Calvary.

ii. He died by divine appointment
1. The whole Mosaic ritual indicates the way God regulates the human approach to him (you will approach me on my terms and in my way). Christ is the Lamb of God. He is offered to God and is offered by God. This is brought out at Pentecost. Peter said, ‘You took your own Messiah and handed him over to those who were without your law, without your Torah, but it happened by the determined counsel and foreknowledge of God. This was a divinely mandated event.’

2. His death was a priestly act
   a. Priestly on behalf of the Father and Son (John 3:16).

3. His death was expiatory (expiation)
   a. It means the sacrifice is sin-related. Its purpose is the removal, expiation of sin

4. His death was vicarious
   a. Christ died for… SUBSTITUTION
SUBSTITUTION

“[God] might punish the elect in their own persons, or in their surety standing in their own room and stead [as their substitute]; and when he is punished, they also are punished [in their representative]: for in this point of view the federal head and those represented by him are considered as distinct, but as one; for although they are not one in respect of personal unity, they are, however, one, -- that is, one body in mystical union, yea one mystical Christ; -- namely, the Surety is the head, those represented by him the members; and when the head is punished, the members also are punished.”

“But if we start by affirming that God has a saving love for all, and Christ died a saving death for all, and yet balk at becoming universalists, there is nothing else that we can say. And let us be clear on what we have done when we have put the matter in this fashion. We have not exalted grace and the cross; we have limited the atonement far more drastically than Calvinism does, for whereas Calvinism asserts that Christ's death, as such, saves all whom it was meant to save, we have denied that Christ's death, as such, is sufficient to save any of them.”

The SUBSTITUTIONARY nature of the work of Christ

1. Introduction

   a. “[Christ] love me and gave himself for (ὑπὲρ) me” (Galatians 2:20)

   b. What does “for me” mean?

      i. “Along with us” – Solidarity: Jesus suffers in the same we do. He takes a real body and a real mind with genuine human emotions and a human psychology and will etc. His sufferings weren’t a pretence, a mirage. We can go to him and hear him say, “I know what you’re going through.” “For we do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who in every respect has been tempted as we are, yet without sin” (Heb. 4:15).

      ii. “As my representative” – Representation: priests did things on behalf of people and prophets spoke on behalf of God to the people etc. Think of a lawyer who argues a case for you in a court of law. He is an “advocate” or “representative”. Similar idea in “representative government” etc. Note how this idea is less than substitution.

      iii. “In my place” – Substitution: this is more than than representation, or better – it builds upon the idea of representation. He not only represents me (legally) but takes the consequences for me.

1. Surety: “The Lord Jesus, in His human nature thus united to the divine, was sanctified, and anointed with the Holy Spirit, above measure, having in Him all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge; in whom it pleased the Father that all fullness should dwell; to the end that, being holy, harmless, undefiled, and full of grace and truth, He might be thoroughly furnished to execute the office of a Mediator and Surety. Which office He took not unto Himself, but was thereunto called by His Father, who put all power and judgment into His hand, and gave Him commandment to execute the same.” (Westminster Confession 8:3).

2. Hotly disputed today (though, the objection is very old – 17th century Socinians raised the same objection. See later in lecture.)
2. Evidence for Substitution

a. The Sacrificial nature of Jesus’ death

i. He is the priest and victim. A victim is not acting but suffering. If he is victim, he must be more the representative.

b. The prepositions employed

i. Mark 10:45

1. “For even the Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for (λύτρον ἀντὶ) many.”

a. What did the ransom price secure?
   Ransom/atonement (Heb. Kipper). Basic idea is “covering” (ark, Gen. 6:14). Payment of price “covering the debt.” Cancellation of debt by a satisfactory payment (Motyer, Isaiah TOTC, 72).

b. “Many” has echoes of Isaiah 53.

ii. 2 Corinthians 5:21

1. “For (ὑπὲρ) our sake he made him to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God” (2 Corinthians 5:21).

a. Note: the second use of “sin” must be the same as the first use! So this verse cannot mean, “He made him an offering…” He suffered so that we might not have to suffer. The point is not solidarity but immunity.

iii. Galatians 2:20

1. “I have been crucified with Christ. It is no longer I who live, but Christ who lives in me. And the life I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for (ὑπὲρ) me.”

iv. Galatians 3:13
1. “Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us (ὑπὲρ)—for it is written, ‘Cursed is everyone who is hanged on a tree’.”

   a. Notice the perfect, ‘it stands written’ (γέγραπται). Christ bought us back from the curse (κατέρρης) of the law. The curse of the law is the curse of God.

   b. Christ is not merely a representative; he is our substitution.

v. Ephesians 5:2

1. “And walk in love, as Christ loved us and gave himself up for (ὑπὲρ) us, a fragrant offering and sacrifice to God.”

vi. 1 Timothy 2:5-6

1. “For there is one God, and there is one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus, who gave himself as a ransom for (ὑπὲρ) all, which is the testimony given at the proper time.”

c. If Christ was not our substitute, we must bear the consequences of our own sins

   i. The point of the objection is that sin is non-transferable. If that is the case, true redemption is impossible.

   d. Without substitution the death of Christ is unintelligible

   i. Why does the condemnation due to sin alight here – on Christ? How is this a righteous act?

3. The Nature of Christ’s Substitution

   a. The [Eternal/Pre-temporal] Covenant of Redemption

   i. An intra-Trinitarian “agreement.”

   ii. Voluntary on the part of the Son
1. This is important when dealing with charges of “cosmic child-abuse.” Jesus was not unwilling, reluctant. He loved me.

iii. He was/is a divine person

1. He is not a third party dragged into a dispute that is none of his business. He is the God who has been offended.

b. The Justice issue

i. Substitution is the only view that ensures that when the wrath of God alights upon his Son, it is wholly just.

4. OBJECTIONS to Substitution

a. Penal Substitution is not the only model for atonement

i. Raised by (e.g.) Joel Green and Mark Baker. There is a “rich tapestry” of atonement language.

b. Penal Substitution is not central to the Bible’s doctrine of atonement

i. This is true, but all other models (satisfaction, victory, reconciliatory etc. require substitution for them to make sense.). Some (e.g. Paul Fiddes says it was a product of sixteenth century Europe and blames John Calvin for it).

c. Penal Substitution diminishes the significance of Jesus’ life and resurrection

i. This is a bit like saying when visiting a restaurant, if you comment that the “food” was great, you’re missing the point that you had an hors d’oeuvre and a dessert.

d. Penal Substitution makes no sense in a modern culture

i. “Calvin assumes that when law… is broken punishment must always be inflicted. As a matter of fact this no longer seems as self-evident to us today as it did in past ages. In deed every preacher ought to ask himself whether a theory of penal substitution can be understood in a society where it is no longer possible to use such words as, ‘Christ suffered the death penalty for us.”” (Fiddes, Past Event and Present Salvation, 102-103).

1. This may be true, but the same could be said for the biblical doctrine of sin as transgression of law). Should we stop talking about it since society doesn’t understand it?

e. The violence involved in penal substitution amounts to “cosmic child abuse”

i. Steve Chalk and Alan Mann, The Lost Message of Jesus (Zondervan, 2003).

ii. “How have we come to believe that at the cross this God of love suddenly decides to vent his anger and wrath on his own Son? the fact is, the cross isn’t a form of cosmic child abuse – a vengeful Father, punishing his Son for an offense he has not even committed.” (p. 182). Cf. a similar statement in Joel Green and Mark Baker, Recovering the Scandal of the Cross: Atonement in New Testament and Contemporary Contexts IVP, 2000), 32).

iii. This view borrows from concepts of question the nature of “wrath” in God.

SATISFACTION

“I can’t get no…”

Mick Jagger & Keith Richards, “(I Can’t Get No) Satisfaction”, performed by The Rolling Stones, from Out of Our Heads, 1965.

“God’s Justice in punishing… sin [is] so natural, that he cannot but punish it, or require satisfaction; otherwise he should deny himself, and his own nature.”

“The Lord Jesus, by his perfect obedience and sacrifice of himself—which he through the eternal Spirit once offered up to God—has fully satisfied the justice of his Father. He purchased not only reconciliation but also an everlasting inheritance in the kingdom of heaven for all those whom the Father has given to him.”

Westminster Confession of Faith 8:5

“Those whom God effectually calls he also freely justifies, not by infusing righteousness into them, but by pardoning their sins and by accounting and accepting them as righteous. It is not for anything wrought in them, or done by them, but for Christ’s sake alone that they are justified. It is not by imputing faith itself, the act of believing, or any other act of Christian obedience to them, as their righteousness, but by imputing the obedience and satisfaction of Christ to them who receive and rest on him and his righteousness by faith. Men do not have this faith of themselves; it is the gift of God.”

Westminster Confession of Faith 11.1
1. Introduction

   a. “There is therefore now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus.” (Romans 8:1)

   b. What does it mean that there is “now no condemnation”?

      i. Protestant

         1. “Protestants rightly contend that the satisfaction of Christ is the only satisfaction for sin and is so perfect that it leaves no penal liability for the believer.” (John Murray, Redemption Accomplished and Applied, p. 51)

         2. While the chastisement of believers for sin does occur (Heb. 12:7-11) it is not to be confused with participation in the atoning work of Christ.

      ii. Roman Catholic

         1. Two types of sin: eternal and temporal

         2. All eternal sin is blotted out during baptism (for the faithful) and temporal sin up until the point of baptism

         3. The believer is make satisfaction for all remaining temporal sin either in this life or in purgatory

   c. Why does it matter?

      i. To equate the work of a believer to the atoning work of Christ takes away glory due to God alone

      ii. It also undermines the message of Scripture:

         1. 1 Peter 3:18 “For Christ also suffered once for sins, the righteous for the unrighteous, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh but made alive in the spirit,”

         2. Hebrews 9:28 “so Christ, having been offered once to bear the sins of many, will appear a second time, not to deal with sin but to save those who are eagerly waiting for him.”

3. Romans 6:10 “For the death he died he died to sin, once for all, but the life he lives he lives to God.”

2. Features of His Completed Work

a. Historic Objectivity

i. “It is indeed true that the person who atoned for sin is above history as regards his deity and eternal Sonship. As such he is eternal and transcends all the conditions and circumstances of time... But the atonement was made in human nature and at a particular season in the past and finished calendar of events.” (Murray, pp. 52-53)

ii. Galatians 4:4-5 “But when the fullness of time had come, God sent forth his Son, born of woman, born under the law, to redeem those who were under the law, so that we might receive adoption as sons.”

iii. Common mistakes:

1. It is “suprahistorical”

2. It is contemporary

b. Finality

i. Many make the mistake of seeing the atonement as an on-going eternal process; whereby, Christ makes atonement for sins as they are confessed and repented of

1. This is to confuse separate actions and phases of his priestly office

2. Hebrews 9:12 “he entered once for all into the holy places, not by means of the blood of goats and calves but by means of his own blood, thus securing an eternal redemption.”

ii. “the atonement of which Scripture speaks is the vicarious obedience, expiation, propitiation, reconciliation, and redemption performed by the Lord of glory when, once for all, he purged our sins and sat down at the right hand of the majesty on high.” (Murray, p. 55)

c. Uniqueness

i. Many see the atonement as being the “supreme illustration” of the principle of self-sacrificial love (exemplar theory of the atonement)

1. True that Christ’s sacrifice is supreme example of the love of God

2. Also true that there is a character and virtue in that love which we should look to imitate

ii. Yet two errors often made:

1. To state that Christ’s sacrifice on the cross ONLY serves as an example

2. That by our works of self-sacrifice we add to the merit of Christ

iii. Must take atonement on Scriptures own terms as a never to be repeated or equalled event in redemptive history

iv. Satisfaction possible because of the uniqueness of Christ himself

1. “His satisfaction was meritorious before God because of the worth of his person. He is the God-man, and both natures were necessary in order for Christ to both represent His people and make sufficient payment on their behalf.” (Beeke & Jones, A Puritan Theology, p. 353.)

d. Efficacy

i. Some argue that God accepts Christ’s work in place of full satisfaction to justice

ii. See WCF 8.5: “Lord Jesus, by his perfect obedience and sacrifice of himself—which he through the eternal Spirit once offered up to God—has fully satisfied the justice of his Father.”
iii. See WCF 11:3: “Christ, by His obedience and death, did fully discharge the debt of all those that are thus justified, and did make a proper, real and full satisfaction to His Father’s justice in their behalf. Yet, in as much as He was given by the Father for them; and His obedience and satisfaction accepted in their stead; and both, freely, not for any thing in them; their justification is only of free grace; that both the exact justice, and rich grace of God might be glorified in the justification of sinners.”

iv. To the extent we misunderstand the full efficacy (and suffering) of Christ’s work on the cross, is the extent to which we misunderstand God’s grace

PROPITIATION

“Expiation is an action that has sin as its object; it denotes the covering, putting away or rubbing out of sin so that it no longer constitutes a barrier to friendly fellowship between man and God. Propitiation, however, in the Bible, denotes all that expiation means, and the pacifying of the wrath of God thereby. So, at any rate, Christian scholars have maintained since the Reformation, when these things first began to be studied with precision, and the case can still be made compellingly today.”

“Those who seek to reduce the concept of propitiation to a mere expiation do not, in general, face the questions which expiation raises, such as ‘Why should sin be expiated?’ ‘What would be the consequences to man if there were no expiation?’ ‘Would the hand of God be in those consequences?’ It seems evident on the scriptural view that if sin is not expiated, if men ‘die in their sins’, then they have the divine displeasure to face, and this is but another way of saying that the wrath of God abides upon them. It seems that expiation is necessary in order to avert the wrath of God, so that nothing seems o be gained by abandoning the concept of propitiation.”

“But the happy period which was to shake off my fetters, and afford me a clear opening of the free mercy of God in Christ Jesus, was now arrived. I flung myself into a chair near the window, and seeing a Bible there, ventured once more to apply to it for comfort and instruction. The first verse I saw was the 25th of the 3rd of Romans: ‘Whom God hath set forth as a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God.’

Immediately I received strength to believe it, and the full beams of the Sun of Righteousness shone upon me. I saw the sufficiency of the atonement he had made, my pardon sealed in his blood, and all the fullness and completeness of his justification. In a moment I believed, and received the gospel.”

1. Hebrew: כפר, כופר (kipper, kopher: to cover, covering)

2. Greek: ἱλάσκεσθαι, εἰς ἱλάσκεσθαι, ἱλάσμος, ἱλαστήριον ἱλασκομαι (to propitiate, propitiation)

3. Expiation and Propitiation:

   a. Expiation: the idea here is covering sin. “Mercy-seat”: (kappōret: Exodus 25:17-22; 37:6-9). On Yom Kippur the High Priest entered the inner sanctuary containing the ark and the mercy seat; incense was burned and the mercy seat was enveloped in smoke. The blood from a bull was sprinkled on the mercy seat (Lev. 16:11-19). The symbolism appears to be that the mercy seat covered the word of condemnation; the ordinances that were against us. This is where the atonement begins, in the covering of sin. It all begins with the covering of sin.

   b. Some “conservative theologians” think it appropriate to render ἱλασμός as “expiation” when the reference is the effect of the atonement on SIN and “propitiation” when the context suggests that what is in view the effect of the atonement on GOD.

      i. Hebrews 2:17—“Therefore he had to be made like his brothers in every respect, so that he might become a merciful and faithful high priest in the service of God, to make propitiation for the sins of the people [ἐἰς τὸ ἱλάσκεσθαι τὰς ἁμαρτίας τοῦ λαοῦ].” For some incomprehensible reason, the KJV rendered this passage “reconciliation.” The word is not reconciliation. However, the context here is the effect of the atonement on SIN.

      ii. 1 John 2:2 —“He is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the sins of the whole world [αὐτός ἱλασμός ἐστιν περὶ τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν ἡμῶν].” John is saying we have (1) a paraclete, an advocate (2:1) and (2) an ἱλασμός. The advocate is not pleading our cause before an unloving judge but towards the fatherliness of God. He is not trying to make him loving but he is addressing his plea to the God who has a predisposition to bless his people and grant what the paraclete is praying for. Yet it seems that the paraclete has a hopeless case. What can he say on behalf of his client? If we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us! What can we do? The advocate bases his case on the ἱλασμός—an expiatory sacrifice. And he himself is the ἱλασμός for our sins.

   Do we need to keep the word propitiation in this text? This antithesis is a false one. The decisive point is that the reference to sin indicates that it is what is expiated. Christ is the sacrifice for our sins. This ἱλασμός is a sin offering, and propitiation will follow as a result of this expiation not opposed to it.
iii. 1 John 4:10 – “In this is love, not that we have loved God but that he loved us and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.” Since the reference is “for our sins” some argue that expiation is in view rather than propitiation.

4. Propitiation: preliminary points

a. To propitiate is not to make God love us

i. Often propitiation is portrayed as persuading a God who is malevolent. It is not concerned with turning hatred into love. It is not concerned with hatred but anger. It is possible to be angry and yet love that person. It is also possible to hate someone and not be angry at a person. Love and anger are not exclusive and hate and anger are not always the same.

ii. The atonement did not cause, secure, or purchase the love of God, but that love causes and produces the atonement. The cross does not purchase grace but the channel which that grace flows.

b. To love is not necessarily to be propitious

i. One can love and yet not be propitious. God is love always. And yet he is not propitious always. A mother who loves her child may one day see that child cross the road in front of an oncoming vehicle. She comes out to the sound of the screech of breaks relieved that her child is safe. However, while relieved, she is angry that her child didn’t look both ways.

5. Traditional understanding of propitiation:

a. Christ expiated sin and thereby appeased the anger of God

i. Linked with biblical concepts of satisfaction and substitution

ii. Christ turned away or averted the divine anger by taking it upon himself. The curse we deserved he experienced in our place. It does not simply experience it in solidarity, alongside us, but in our place, so that we do now have to experience it.

iii. He is a shield between us and the anger of God. That anger is squashed because Christ exhausts it in himself. The flaming sword that guards the tree of love—the covenant curse—strikes but it strikes on Christ. He is the captain of our salvation leading us back to Paradise. He has to run that gauntlet. By the time we get to that sword, it is not there.
He took it for us. He is the way. By expiating sin, Christ propitiated God.

6. Challenges to this understanding

   a. Translations vary: “sacrifice of atonement” (NEB) or “atoning sacrifice” (NIV)

   b. C. H. Dodd

7. Response to Dodd (see Roger Nicole, Leon Morris)

   a. Acknowledge the truth in Dodd’s position

      i. No error ever succeeds unless it contains elements of truth. Yes, the God of Israel is antithetical to pagan gods, hence the name of his book. He was particularly different in his anger or wrath. For example, Isaiah 27:4, “fury is not in me.” One of Thomas Chalmers’ favourite sermons was on this text. (ESV “I am not angry”).

      ii. Fury is someone loosing it.

   b. The anger of God is a reality

      i. The anger of God is personal

         1. Dodd suggests that the divine anger is impersonal.

            a. Lam. 3:42; Amos 3:6; Ez. 7:8; Ps. 60:1ff
b. (θυμος, οργη): Mk. 3:5; Rev. 6:16; Heb. 12:39; 2 Thess. 1:7-9; Rom. 1:24, 26

ii. Conscience knows the reality of the divine anger

1. Romans 2:15 “They show that the work of the law is written on their hearts, while their conscience also bears witness, and their conflicting thoughts accuse or even excuse them.”

iii. This anger needs to be dealt with

1. This is the crucial point of the entire debate of propitiation—not the linguistics. The crucial point—is God angry with sin and if so how has it been dealt with?

8. Romans 3:21-26: “But now the righteousness of God has been manifested apart from the law, although the Law and the Prophets bear witness to it—the righteousness of God through faith in Jesus Christ for all who believe. For there is no distinction: for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, and are justified by his grace as a gift, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, whom God put forward as a propitiation by his blood, to be received by faith. This was to show God’s righteousness, because in his divine forbearance he had passed over former sins. It was to show his righteousness at the present time, so that he might be just and the justifier of the one who has faith in Jesus.”
Our Missionaries - March 19, 2014

Scott and Victoria Andes - Ukraine
- Please pray that somehow, the Lord would intervene and stop bloodshed. He sent Senacarib's army's away from Jerusalem, but He also allowed Stalin and Hitler to have pretty long reigns. Even knowing WHO controls all, we are afraid for this country, which we love.
- Please pray for us. Pray that we would know what to do and when. Pray that the Lord would work out any necessary details. Right now, we are scheduled for a much needed (and rather expensive) get away out of the country for Spring Break a week from now. We really need it.
- Please pray that the Lord would help us trust in Him, and show us when we are not and don’t even know it! We need wisdom. We don’t want to leave (on many levels), but we neither do we want to put our family in harm’s way needlessly. We also would rather not be here if the Russians do arrive in Kyiv.
- Please pray for graceful endurance for us.

Dough and Alleene Kratch - World Team
- Pray for Doug as he edits, edits and does more editing.
- Pray for child-like trust to carry us to the completion. The task is plain. The task is large and therefore a bit daunting.
- Pray for perseverance for to bring the completion of the series. We hope that by April 2014 to have the project wrapped up.

Paul and Missy Robelot - France
- Set up Member Care Facilitators for each European country. Only have 5 out of 11 needed.
- Member care role, balance and needs.
- Travel to Austrian missionary conference in April (20-22)
- Visit to Sweden in April (30)
- Visitors coming, March 23-27, April 24-27, May 4
- Planning itinerary for Home Assignment May 10-July 20.
- Mandatory support raising needed 25% to return in July.
- Julie begins at American Univ. of Paris in Sept.
- Susie’s continued studies at Liberty Univ.
- Nathalie’s wedding in July. Peace of mind, glorify Jesus.
- Time with family while home.
- Doctors visits etc while home.

John and Sarah Ellen Carson - MT3
Our spring trip is scheduled and booked
3/20 Lake Wales – childcare (Emma goes on a mission trip)
3/31 Berlin – visit missionaries
4/11 Edinburgh – Leith Church Plant & Reformission Scotland
4/16 Nairobi – Common Ground Theological Institute
5/3 Kitale – Interdenominational Bible College
5/12 Kampala – Westminster Theological College – Uganda
6/2 Kampala – African Bible University – Uganda
6/7 Home – Synod and World Focus
- Pray for safe travel, great ministry opportunities and teaching time
Course preparation
- Doctrine of God (Angelology, Demonology, Revelation, God's Person & Work)
  Teaching at 2 schools
- Anthropology – Doctrine of Man as Created, Fallen, Redeemed, Glorified
  Teaching at 2 schools
- Christian Ethics – both Biblical content and practical application
  Teaching at 2 schools
- Pray for the last 2 courses as I prepare them – I have spent a lot of time on Doctrine of God and there is a lot more work to do on the other two courses
- Pray also for the courses as I teach them – that I may teach what the Bible says clearly and effectively
My students – dear African pastors with busy lives and little resources
- Pray for the students as they learn ... then ...
- Pray for the students as they take what they have learned back to their churches and communities
Dennis and Cynde Morgan - Vienna

- Praise that our daughter now has a roommate, not only a big help financially but thankful she is no longer living alone.
- Prayer specifically this week for wrapping up our German class with tests on Wednesday and Thursday this week and that we earn our language certificate.
- Prayer for the relationships we will be leaving here that the Lord will renew them when we return.
- Pray for safe travel and a time of renewal and continued German study while temporarily relocated to Scotland, and of course positive action on our residence permit applications.
- Pray for New City Wien, especially our team leaders the Hunters who will be carrying the load alone while we’re gone, and for the church to grow in depth as well as numbers.

Alex and Irina Ponomarev - Ukraine

- For Ukraine, its political situation and economic recovery.
- For spiritual awakening of people in Ukraine.
- For our trip to Vinnitsa, Ukraine and to Russia in May - June.
- For many outreach projects in Columbia, SC, in the spring (picnics, festivals, trips).
- For God’s provision for our ministry. Thank you for investing into the Kingdom through MOST.

Sebastien and Patti Benicourt - Turkey

- Would you pray for our time on the road, physical protection and for divine appointments. Though we have our visas back, we do want to be able to be a part of a movement that will start to reach out in Jesus’ Name to the local Turkish community which at this point has but one full-time family. The youth center stopped functioning as a youth center 5 years ago, the youth center stopped functioning as a youth center.
- Pray for Joel who has started acting out a bit strange over the last couple of days. He is quite sensitive to what goes on around him and it seems the stress in the home has started affecting him some. Looking to Jesus who give us peace and whose victory at the Cross spells „the beginning of the end of Satan’s reign.”
- Pray for your prayers to be effective to change people’s hearts and to give them the message of God’s love through you.

Jeff and Lisa King - Chile

- Praise the Lord for a good Drs. appointment on Wed. We had an ultrasound and the baby is growing normally and looks good. We were also able to find out the baby is a BOY!
- When our current director left the youth center, it was turned over to a woman named Cristiano. He has been the caretaker of the land for 7 years now. Due to a quick turnover and lack of training for Cristiano and his family, the youth center lost much of its purpose and function, and now due to a quick turnover and lack of training for Cristiano and his family, the youth center lost much of its purpose and function.
- The younger generations, both church-goers and non-church-goers, look to the youth center for leadership and direction. The younger generations, both church-goers and non-church-goers, look to the youth center for leadership and direction.

- Wisdom as we seek the way forward in the ministry.
- The means to hire one, then a second new staff member.
- Our East Coast Fall Think Tank plans! (Watch our emails about this exciting possibility).
- A positive response to our grant applications from foundations (possibility).
VICTORY

“Redemption from sin cannot be adequately conceived or formulated except as it comprehends the victory which Christ secured once for all over him who is the god of this world, the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now works in the children of disobedience. We must view sin and evil in its larger proportions as a kingdom that embraces the subtlety, craft, ingenuity, power, and unremitting activity of Satan and his legions – ‘the principalities, and the powers, the world-rulers of this darkness, the spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenlies’ (Eph. 6:12). And it impossible to speak in terms of redemption from the power of sin except as there comes within the range of this redemptive accomplishment the destruction of the power of darkness. It is thus that we may entertain a more intelligent understanding of what Christ encountered when he said, ‘This is your hour and the power of darkness’ (Luke 22:53) and of what the Lord of glory wrought when he cast out the prince of this world (John 12:31).”

“How did the cross effect the results recounted in the three several clauses that disarmed the powers and authorities, made a public spectacle of them, and triumphed over them in the cross? I answer: Sin was the ground of Satan’s dominion, the sphere of his power, and the secret of his strength; and no sooner was the guilt lying on us extinguished, than his throne was undermined, as Jesus himself said (Jn. 12:31). When the guilt of sin was abolished, Satan’s dominion over God’s people was ended; for the ground of his authority was the law which had been violated, and the guilt which had been incurred ... [The cross was] on God’s part at once a victory and a display of all God’s attributes, to the irretrievable ruin, dismay, and confusion of satanic powers.”

“A comprehensively biblical exposition of the work of Christ recognizes that the atonement, which terminates on God (in propitiation) and on man (in forgiveness), also terminates on Satan (in the destruction of his sway over believers).”

The Victory of Christ

1. The Obedience of Christ

   a. Active Obedience
   b. Passive Obedience
   c. Munus Triplex: Prophet, Priest and KING
   d. Shorter Catechism Q&A 26: “How does Christ execute the office a king? A: Christ executes the office of a king in subduing us to himself, in ruling and defending us, and in restraining and conquering all his and our enemies.”

2. Historical Review:

   a. Early Church Fathers

      i. Justin Martyr (100-165)
      ii. Irenaeus (130-202)
      iii. Origen (182-254)
      iv. Gregory of Nyssa (335-395):

         1. Great Catechism: “For since, as has been said before, it was not in the nature of the opposing power to come in contact with the undiluted presence of God, and to undergo His unclouded manifestation, therefore, in order to secure that the ransom in our behalf might be easily accepted by him who required it, the Deity was hidden under the veil of our nature, that so, as with ravenous fish, the hook of the Deity might be gulped down along with the bait of flesh, and thus, life being introduced into the house of death, and light shining in darkness, that which is diametrically opposed to light and life might vanish…” (Chapter 24).

         2. Ransom to Satan. Involves the ethically questionable notion of deception (all’s fair in love and war?). Bear in mind, however, that both Origen and Gregory were universalists (Satan also!).

b. Gustav Aulén (1879-1977) [Swedish, Lutheran]
i. Christus Victor:

2. Something of a tour de force, arguing:
   a. That he was resurrecting Luther’s view (doubtful)
   b. That the Post-Reformation emphasis on satisfaction (via Anselm) reflected a trend to legalism etc.

   c. Truth in distortion.

3. Old Testament background:

   a. Genesis 3:15, “I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and her offspring; he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel.”

   b. Psalm 68:18, “You ascended on high, leading a host of captives in your train and receiving gifts among men, even among the rebellious, that the LORD God may dwell there.”

   c. Isaiah 53:12, “therefore I will divide him a portion with the many, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong.”

   i. The dominant theme of the passage is not the suffering but victory!

4. New Testament

   c. John 14:31, “Rise, let us go from here [ἐγείρεσθε, ἀγωμεν ἐντεῦθεν]” (and the problem that they don’t seem to go anywhere until 18:1!).

   d. 1 John 3:8, “The reason the Son of God appeared was to destroy the works of the devil.”

   e. Hebrews 2:14-15, “Since therefore the children share in flesh and blood, he himself likewise partook of the same things, that through death he might destroy the one who has the power of death, that is, the devil, and deliver all those who through fear of death were subject to lifelong slavery.”

f. Colossians 2:15, “He disarmed the rulers and authorities and put them to open shame, by triumphing over them in him.”

5. Theological Implications:

a. Destruction of Satan

b. The dominion of Christ – the Lamb sits at God’s right hand and is at the centre of the throne. He occupies this position of glory as a result of the ascension.

i. Matthew 28:18, “All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me” – universal dominion, throughout this world and all of creation.

ii. Philippians 2:9 – “he has been highly exalted” – NOW, not just THEN.

iii. Hebrews 1:3 – “he has sat down on the right hand of God”

iv. Colossians 1:18 – “in all things he has the pre-eminence” – he stands supreme over every other force. The Col. heresy seems to have been to do with angel-worship. But whoever the angelic powers are, Jesus Christ is over them, and he has every power over them.

v. Revelation 5:6ff – before John sees the tribulations, pestilences, etc., he sees the lamb on the throne and his assurance comes from this.

c. Ushers in a new age – the “last days.” We are already living in the Last Days and these last days began when Christ was here.

i. “Realized eschatology”:

1. Acts 2:17 – “it shall come to pass in the last days”

2. Galatians 4:4 – more narrowly to the Incarnation – “in the fullness of time.” Prophecy/history was pregnant with Jesus Christ. Paul is talking about the redemptive plan.

3. Hebrews 1:2 – “in these last days has spoken to us through his Son” – the last days were inaugurated by the arrival of Jesus Christ.
4. 1 John 2:18 – “little children, this is the last hour” – we are living in the final age before the consummation of history.

d. Ensures the final destruction of the works of evil (1 John 3:8).

   i. The healings, exorcisms, and nature miracles all remedy the ills of this world, which were seen to be the work of the devil. Prophetic anticipations of the new heavens and the new earth.

e. End the tyranny of sin in believers

   i. Romans 6: SIN DOES NOT REIGN. We were DEAD in trespasses in sins. We are also DEAD TO SIN in Christ.

f. Ensures the conquest of death

   i. 1 Corinthians 15:27, “For “God has put all things in subjection under his feet.” But when it says, “all things are put in subjection,” it is plain that he is excepted who put all things in subjection under him.”

   ii. He reigns and always will reign until eternity. The decisive battle has taken place at Calvary.

g. Puts Christ in a position where he is able to apply the redemption he has accomplished – SINGLE MOST IMPORTANT POINT.

Dennis and Cynde Morgan - Vienna

- Pray for God’s grace in our lives as we face the challenge of being away from Vienna.
- Pray for approval of our residence permits and for a speedy return to Vienna.
- And pray too for contentment as we settle into our sixth temporary home in 10 months.

- Please pray that we will make the most of our time here in Edinburgh. We begin German language study this week. Pray for progress in our conversation skills.
- Pray for our participation with Grace Church Leith (Edinburgh suburb) while we’re here. We will be joining a community group this week.
- Pray for us to keep nurturing the relationships in Vienna via Skype and email. They have been a positive response to our grant applications from foundations.

Sebastien and Patti Benicourt - Turkey

- Would you pray for our time on the road, physical protection and for divine appointments. Though we have had our visas back, we do want to be able to be a part of a movement that will start to reach out in Jesus’ Name to the local Turkish community which at this point has but one full-time family working with them for close to one million members.

- Pray for Joel who has started acting out a bit strange over the last couple of days. He is quite sensitive to what goes on around him and it seems the stress in the home has started affecting him some. Pray for Jesus who give us peace and whose victory at the Cross spells “the beginning of the end of Satan’s reign.”

Mark and Natalie Witte - Spain

- for Vanessa’s arm to heal quickly.

Reconciliation

I. Introduction.

A. Overview of Reconciliation in the Bible

1. The English word “reconcile” and its derivatives are used 16x in 13 verses in the ESV.

2. In the NT it translates some form of the Greek verb alloso (diallasso, sunallasso, katallasso, and apokatallasso) and the noun katallage.

3. This Greek word group is rarely used in the Septuagint (LXX), the Greek translation of the OT, but the concept of reconciliation is central to OT theology.

- KJV uses “reconcile” and its derivatives in some OT verses to translate, in the lingo of Dr. Davis, “the K-word” (kipper, koper) – Lev. 6:30, 8:15, 16:20; 1 Sam. 29:4; 2 Chr. 29:24; Ezek. 45:15, 17, 20; and Dan. 9:24. See the lecture notes from Dr. Davis, “Old Testament Redemption Lingo,” March 26, 2014. http://fptheologyschool.files.wordpress.com/2012/08/old-testament-redemption-lingo.pdf

- Compare Hebrews 2:17 in KJV: “Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people.” The ESV has (more accurately) “propitiation” where the KJV has “reconciliation.” Christ reconciled us to God by making himself an offering for sin, suffering the penalty for sin in our place. He made propitiation for us, satisfying the justice of God. The result of Christ’s propitiation is our reconciliation to God. The enmity of God toward us is now removed. See lecture notes from Dr. Thomas, “Propitiation,” March 19, 2014. http://fptheologyschool.files.wordpress.com/2012/08/propitiation-rev.pdf

- Securing reconciliation belongs to the work of Christ as priest. See Westminster Shorter Catechism Q. 25: How doth Christ execute the office of a priest? A. Christ executeth the office of a priest, in his once offering up of himself a sacrifice to satisfy divine justice, and reconcile us to God, and in making continual intercession for us.
4. In a few places, the Greek word group is used for restoring a relationship between two people that was broken by an offense:

- 1 Sam. 29:4 (LXX) – Philistine commanders suggest that David might hope to be reconciled to his master Saul by betraying the Philistines
- Matt. 5:24 – speaks of reconciling brothers who have become litigants at court
- Acts 7:26 – recounts how Moses intervened in a dispute between two Israelites in hopes of reconciling them as brothers
- 1 Cor. 7:11 – speaks of a wife being reconciled to her husband after divorce

5. Most NT passages using the word group speak of reconciling sinners to God (Rom. 5:10, 2 Cor. 5:17-21, Eph. 2:11-22, and Col. 2:19-22).

6. Leon Morris – “Reconciliation properly applies not to good relations in general but to the doing away of an enmity, the bridging over of a quarrel. It implies that the parties being reconciled were formerly hostile to one another. The Bible tells us bluntly that sinners are ‘enemies’ of God (Rom. 5:10, Col. 1:21, James 4:4). We should not minimize the seriousness of these and similar passages. An enemy is not someone who comes a little short of being a friend. He is in the other camp. He is altogether opposed. The New Testament pictures God in vigorous opposition to everything that is evil.” See “Reconciliation,” The New Bible Dictionary, ad loc. (the Biblical citations have been modernized to conform to current conventions).

II. Principal NT passages pertaining to our reconciliation to God:

A. Romans 5:10, 11 – “For if while we were enemies we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, now that we are reconciled, shall we be saved by his life. More than that, we also rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we have now received the reconciliation.”

- Prior to reconciliation we were enemies of God. The point here is not simply that sinners are in rebellion against God, and thus have made God their enemy, but that God counts them as his enemies. See John 3:36, “Whoever believes in the Son has eternal life; whoever does not obey the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God remains on him.”
- Reconciliation requires the removal of what has separated us from God. Our sins separated us from God: “. . . but your iniquities have made a separation between you and your God, and your sins have hidden his face from you so that he does not hear” (Isa. 59:2). Both our sins and the guilt of our sins must be removed if there is to be reconciliation to God.
- God’s just demands for our sins are satisfied by the death of Christ in our place.
- Reconciliation is a gift of God to us. We do not achieve it, even by our response, for our response is also God’s gift to us. No one comes to Christ unless the Father draws him (John 6:44), unless it is granted him by the Father (John 6:65). God must grant repentance leading to a knowledge of the truth (2 Tim. 2:25).
Because reconciliation has come to us from God, even when we were enemies, we have greater assurance that we shall be saved by the life of Christ.

We therefore rejoice in God through our Lord Jesus Christ.

B. 2 Corinthians 5:17-21 – “Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation. The old has passed away; behold, the new has come. All this is from God, who through Christ reconciled us to himself and gave us the ministry of reconciliation; that is, in Christ God was reconciling the world to himself, not counting their trespasses against them, and entrusting to us the message of reconciliation. Therefore, we are ambassadors for Christ, God making his appeal through us. We implore you on behalf of Christ, be reconciled to God. For our sake he made him to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God.”

God is the initiator of reconciliation and its completion. He reconciled us to himself through Christ.

Reconciliation means that God does not count our sins against us. This is because the debt of our sins has been fully satisfied by the death of Christ. Forgiveness is not simply a divine decision not to count our sins against us. It involves a divine provision for removing our guilt and our sin. The Father gave his Son for us (John 3:16). Christ gave himself up for us (Eph. 5:25). Christ was delivered up for our trespasses and raised for our justification (Rom. 4:25).

As those who have received reconciliation, we are to be ambassadors for Christ, appealing for people to be reconciled to God.

Our reconciliation is in Christ, by union with him, and those who are in him are new creations. Previously we were dead in our trespasses and sins (Eph. 2:1); now we are made alive together with Christ (Eph. 2:5). Death no longer has us in its grip (Rom. 6:9). The old has now passed away and the new has come.

C. Ephesians 2:11-22- “Therefore remember that at one time you Gentiles in the flesh, called “the uncircumcision” by what is called the circumcision, which is made in the flesh by hands—remember that you were at that time separated from Christ, alienated from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world. But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far off have been brought near by the blood of Christ. For he himself is our peace, who has made us both one and has broken down in his flesh the dividing wall of hostility by abolishing the law of commandments expressed in ordinances, that he might create in himself one new man in place of the two, so making peace, and might reconcile us both to God in one body through the cross, thereby killing the hostility. And he came and preached peace to you who were far off and peace to those who were near. For through him we both have access in one Spirit to the Father. So then you are no longer strangers and aliens, but you are fellow citizens with the saints and members of the household of God, built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Christ Jesus himself being the cornerstone, in whom the whole structure, being joined together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord. In him you also are being built together into a dwelling place for God by the Spirit.”
Before reconciliation, there was separation from Christ, leaving us without hope and without God in the world (v. 12). Now in Christ we who were far off are brought near to God and have access to him.

The Gentiles were alienated from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise. They were, therefore, without hope. Hope—that is, an objective hope, not just a subjective wish—is only found in the gospel, and that comes only by a supernatural revelation of God. All that Gentiles possessed was the revelation of God in nature, which has only condemnation for sinners (Rom. 1:18-32). The power of God unto salvation is in the gospel (Rom. 1:16).

Through the gospel both Jew and Gentile can be reconciled to God through the blood of Christ (v. 13). There is peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ (Rom. 5:1).

As alienated from the commonwealth of Israel, the Gentiles were not only at enmity with God, but with Israel too. Being reconciled to God, they are now reconciled to one another. The dividing wall of hostility has been broken down (v. 14) and Christ has killed the hostility (v. 16).

Paul uses here and in Colossians the Greek word apokatallasso, which is not known in Greek literature prior to Paul. Possibly it has been coined by him. The addition of the apo- prefix intensifies the meaning of the word, which perhaps Paul found useful in showing that reconciliation with God also brought reconciliation between Jew and Gentile.

The united people of God now grow into a holy temple in the Lord, becoming a dwelling place for God in the Spirit.

D. Colossians 1:19-22 – “For in him all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell, and through him to reconcile to himself all things, whether on earth or in heaven, making peace by the blood of his cross. And you, who once were alienated and hostile in mind, doing evil deeds, he has now reconciled in his body of flesh by his death, in order to present you holy and blameless and above reproach before him . . .”

God in Christ reconciles all things to himself. The initiative lies with God and the accomplishment belongs to God.

Sin not only brought guilt upon us, but corruption too. We were hostile in mind and doing evil deeds. In Christ we become new creations and will be presented to God as holy and blameless and above reproach.

Reconciliation in Colossians takes on cosmic dimensions. Christ reconciles all things to himself, whether on earth or in heaven. Was the whole created realm also alienated from God by man’s sin? In a sense, yes. The ground was cursed because of man’s sin (Gen. 3:17). The creation was subjected to futility because of man’s fall, and it has waited with eager longing for the revealing of the sons of God, so that it might be set free from its bondage to corruption and obtain the freedom of the glory of the children of God (Rom. 8:18-25). By the redemption that is found in Christ, the whole universe is to be made new.

Here again Paul uses the intensive verb apokatallasso. If he made the word up, it must have been because he found existing terminology insufficient for expressing the fullness of reconciliation that is found in Christ.
IV. Summary

A. The Need for Reconciliation

1. Alienation from God (Col. 1:21), because our sins made a separation between us and our God (Isa. 59:2)
2. Enemies of God (Rom. 5:10), hostile in mind, doing evil deeds (Col. 1:21)
3. Alienated from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise, without hope and without God in the world (Eph. 2:12)
4. Dead in trespasses and sins (Eph. 2:1, 5)

B. The Means of Reconciliation

1. Reconciled to God by the death of his Son (Rom. 5:10)
2. God has now reconciled us in the body of Christ’s flesh by his death (Col. 1:22)
3. The death of Christ made a full propitiation for our sins (Rom. 3:25, 1 John 2:2)
4. Sin is no longer counted against us (2 Cor. 5:19)
5. God made Christ to be sin in our behalf, so that we might become the righteousness of God (2 Cor. 5:21)

C. The Fruits of Reconciliation

1. Peace with God (Rom. 5:1; Eph. 2:14, 17)
2. Access to God (Eph. 2:18, Rom. 5:2)
3. Adoption – members of the household of God (Eph. 2:19)
4. Nearness (presence) of God – (Eph. 2:13, 22)
5. We are new creations (2 Cor. 5:21)
6. We rejoice in hope of the glory of God (Rom. 5:2)

- We got the registration for the mission! What should have been a two day process turned into a two year process! In the mean time we are fully establishing the fact that the mission is not in charge of the synod. They have their God-given responsibilities that they are perfectly capable to taking care of. Our job is the schools and Community Development Education (CDE).
- The Sahiwal School is starting to use Reading A-Z as a supplementary program to the Oxford Curriculum. So far, so good. One teacher is using it as a test. Hopefully next year we’ll have it in the Chichawatni School.
- We celebrated 3 years of CDE. Aamir is doing a great job running the show.
- The CDE team did school screening in two schools in village 65. (Included are pictures of the children in the yard taking an exam. After their exam, the lined up to see us: we got their name, weight, height; then talked to them about their diet; then they saw the doctor from the Christian Hospital Sahiwal.) Today we had the parents’ meeting at the Boys’ Government School with about 50 men and 3 women. (I didn’t go. We didn’t have room in the car for the security guard and me.) Everyone that came was from the majority community and actually made the decision after listening to a pep talk from the principal to start classes after the wheat harvest! The response was better than I could ever imagine!

Joyful families of young families is great. The childcare program is wonderful, and it is filled with families in hope of developing personal friendships. The teaching is the other part of that. We also realized we needed to find a church to work with more young families. We have several ideas in mind of what we need to do to make this church a church in our community.

Mark was asked to lead a series on Romans in March and April.

THE EXTENT/INTENT OF THE ATONEMENT

(PARTICULAR/ LIMITED ATONEMENT)

“This doctrine has been called the doctrine of limited atonement. This may or may not be a good or fair denomination. But it is not the term used that is important; it is that which it denotes. It is very easy to raise prejudice against a doctrine by attaching to it an opprobrious and misunderstood epithet. Whether the expression ‘limited atonement’ is good or not we must reckon with the fact that unless we believe in the final restoration of all men we cannot have an unlimited atonement. If we universalize the extent we limit the efficacy. If some of those for whom the atonement was made and redemption wrought perish eternally, then the atonement is not itself efficacious. It is this alternative that the proponents of universal atonement must face. They have a ‘limited’ atonement and limited in respect of that which impinges upon its essential character. We shall have none of it. The doctrine of ‘limited atonement’ which we maintain is the doctrine which limits the atonement to those who are heirs of eternal life, to the elect. That limitation insures its efficacy and conserves its essential character as efficient and effective redemption.

It is frequently objected that this doctrine is inconsistent with the full and free offer of Christ in the Gospel. This is grave misunderstanding and misrepresentation. The truth really is that it is only on the basis of such a doctrine that we can have a free and full offer of Christ to lost men. What is offered to men in the Gospel? It is not the possibility of salvation, not simply the opportunity of salvation. What is offered is salvation. To be more specific, it is Christ Himself in all the glory of His Person and in all the perfection of His finished work who is offered. And He is offered as the One who made expiation for sin and wrought redemption.”

ST 2.17 The Extent of Redemption (1)

Westminster Confession of Faith

“As God hath appointed the elect unto glory, so hath He, by the eternal and most free purpose of His will, foreordained all the means thereunto. Wherefore, they who are elected being fallen in Adam, are redeemed by Christ; are effectually called unto faith in Christ by His Spirit working in due season; are justified, adopted, sanctified, and kept by His power, through faith, unto salvation. Neither are any other redeemed by Christ, effectually called, justified, adopted, sanctified, and saved, but the elect only.” (3:6)

“The Lord Jesus, by His perfect obedience and sacrifice of Himself, which He, through the eternal Spirit, once offered up unto God, hath fully satisfied the justice of His Father; and purchased, not only reconciliation, but an everlasting inheritance in the kingdom of heaven, for all those whom the Father hath given unto Him.” (8:5)

“To all those for whom Christ hath purchased redemption, He doth certainly and effectually apply and communicate the same; making intercession for them; and revealing unto them, in and by the Word, the mysteries of salvation; effectually persuading them by His Spirit to believe and obey; and governing their hearts by His Word and Spirit; overcoming all their enemies by His almighty power and wisdom, in such manner and ways as are most consonant to His wonderful and unsearchable dispensation.” (8:8)

Calvin and Limited Atonement

i. Those who think Calvin taught a “provisional atonement” [R. T. Kendall, J. B. Torrance, M. Charles Bell].

ii. Those who think Calvin taught an implicit effective atonement.

iii. Those who think Calvin was ambiguous or even contradictory.
   [Robert Letham, “Saving Faith and Assurance in Reformed Theology: Zwingli to the Synod of Dort” (PhD thesis, Aberdeen, 1979); Tony Lane, “In search of the Historical Calvin” EQ 1983].

1. EXTENT (How many) or INTENT?

   a. Employing the term “EXTENT” might get us lost in an unanswerable question – How many did Christ die for? A better term might be “INTENT” – what did Christ set out to achieve in the atonement and was he successful?

2. FOUR POSITIONS ON THE ATONEMENT
a. Universalism: the intent was that Christ died for all and all will be saved.

b. Arminius: intent is that Christ died for all. Not all are saved. The cross is not directly a satisfaction.

c. Canons of Dort (1618-1619): limited atonement.

d. Moyse Amyraut (1596-1664): hypothetical universalism: Christ died for all without exception, but God recognized that all would not believe and the Holy Spirit applies salvation to the elect while Christ dies for all. The intent of the atonement thus differs from the application of salvation. Again, the death of Christ is not the suffering of divine wrath against the sins of his people. The difference between Amyraldianism and Arminianism is that in the former, the limitation is the choice of God, while in the latter the limitation is the choice of the one who believes.

3. STATE OF THE QUESTION:

   a. It is not about the intrinsic sufficiency of the death of Christ

   i. We may be uncomfortable but this is part of the language of Dordt. Articles 3 and 4 of the Second Main Point of Doctrine:

      Article 3: The Infinite Value of Christ’s Death
      This death of God’s Son is the only and entirely complete sacrifice and satisfaction for sins; it is of infinite value and worth, more than sufficient to atone for the sins of the whole world.

      Article 4: Reasons for This Infinite Value
      This death is of such great value and worth for the reason that the person who suffered it is—as was necessary to be our Savior—not only a true and perfectly holy man, but also the only begotten Son of God, of the same eternal and infinite essence with the Father and the Holy Spirit. Another reason is that this death was accompanied by the experience of God’s anger and curse, which we by our sins had fully deserved.

   ii. Peter Lombard (1100 - 1160): “sufficient for all, efficient for the elect”

   iii. Herman Witsius, On the Covenant, Bk. II. Chap. 9. “The obedience of the Son of God was indeed sufficient for the whole world—many thousands and thousands besides and even millions of worlds!”

iv. Cunningham, Historical Theology, 2:333 (237-370—a magisterial introduction to this question): “Nor is it denied that certain benefits accrue to all men from the death of Christ”

v. How can you say reprobates have any benefits when they are all going to hell (the hyper-Calvinist objection)? The “standard” reformed answer is to speak of the benefits of common grace: especially, the preaching of the gospel to “every” creature, not simply because it converts people but that civilizes and socializes people (cf. Chalmers). And idolatry is abolished and impiety restrained – for the sake of the elect.

b. It denied that Christ is to be offered to each and every human being.

i. Canons of Dordt: Article 5: The Mandate to Proclaim the Gospel to All: “Moreover, it is the promise of the gospel that whoever believes in Christ crucified shall not perish but have eternal life. This promise, together with the command to repent and believe, ought to be announced and declared without differentiation or discrimination to all nations and people, to whom God in his good pleasure sends the gospel.”

ii. How do you reconcile the universal offer and limited atonement? When am I told by God to preach the gospel, I don’t ask him, ‘how many elect are there to save?’ You don’t go to coffee unless you know for certain that it is foreordained. We go. Likewise, we preach Christ. You are commanded to believe.

c. The precise question: the ultimate divine intention in the work of the Trinity (opera ad extra).

i. Was it God’s intention to redeem all human beings? What are the possible answers to this question?

1. Was it God’s intention that the sins of all human beings should be redeemed? Note: the question implies that we operate with an understanding of “redeem” employed in previous lectures. I.e. the ransom price has been paid, sin’s curse met, estrangement dealt with, a substitutionary atonement provided satisfying divine justice etc. The EXTENT and NATURE of the atonement are inextricably linked. If Jesus made such an atonement for the sins of every human being, then it inevitably follows that every human being is saved – unless we make human response OUTSIDE that which Christ has achieved and therefore a conditioning factor in the application of redemption.
ii. What was accomplished on the cross, what did it achieve?

“Should we not then think of Christ’s substitution for us on the cross as a definite, one-to-one relationship between him and each individual sinner? This seems scriptural, for Paul says, ‘He loved me and gave himself for me’ (Gal 2:20). But if Christ specifically took and discharged my penal obligation as a sinner, does it not follow that the cross was decisive for my salvation not only as its sole meritorious ground, but also as guaranteeing that I should be brought to faith, and through faith to eternal life? For is not the faith which receives salvation part of God’s gift of salvation, according to what is affirmed in Phil 1:29 and John 6:44f. and implied in what Paul says of God calling and John of new birth? And if Christ by his death on my behalf secured, reconciliation and righteousness as gifts for me to receive (Rom 5:11, 17), did not this make it certain that the faith which receives these gifts would also be given me, as a direct consequence of Christ’s dying for me?

Once this is granted, however, we are shut up to a choice between universalism and some form of the view that Christ died to save only a part of the human race. But if we reject these options, what have we left? The only coherent alternative is to suppose that though God purposed to save every man through the cross, some thwart his purpose by persistent unbelief; which can only be said if one is ready to maintain that God, after all, does no more than make faith possible, and then in some sense that is decisive for him as well as us leaves it to us to make faith actual. Moreover, any who take this position must redefine substitution in imprecise terms, if indeed they do not drop the term altogether, for they are committing themselves to deny that Christ’s vicarious sacrifice ensures anyone’s salvation. Also, they have to give up Toplady’s position. ‘Payment God cannot twice demand, First from my bleeding surety’s hand, And then again from mine’ - for it is of the essence of their view that some whose sins Christ bore, with saving intent, will ultimately pay the penalty for those same sins in their own persons. So it seems that if we are going to affirm penal substitution for all without exception we must either infer universal salvation or else, to evade this inference, deny the saving efficacy of the substitution for anyone; and if we are going to affirm penal substitution as an effective saving act of God we must either infer universal salvation or else, to evade this inference, restrict the scope of the substitution, making it a substitution for some, not all.”
Summary of Arguments in support of the Reformed Doctrine

1. The divine intention must correspond to the outcome:
   a. What did God intend in, by, and through the cross? Was it to save every human being? If it were, then that intention would be carried out to the letter. It is inconceivable that his intention would fail. There is a link between election and redemption and calling and justification, etc. All of these are linked holistically in the divine intention. “The whole reduction and recovery of sinner from the state of alienation, misery and wrath into grace, peace, and eternal communion with God” (Owen, Works, 10:201).
   b. The case of John Macleod Campbell (see appendix): the denial of substitution

2. The works of the Holy Spirit must correspond in extent to that of Christ
   a. All the opera ad extra are works of the three persons. In the accomplishment of salvation, we have the involvement of Father, Son, and Holy Spirit and in the application. Now, there are different problems. One is the extent of the Holy Spirit ministry cannot differ from Christ. The other is that there cannot be a difference in the constituency that Christ saves in his ministry of humiliation (universal) and his ministry of exaltation in heaven (limited to the elect).

   “If the death of Christ doth sanctify all them for whom it was a sacrifice; doth purge away their sin; redeem them from wrath, curse, and guilt; work for them peace and reconciliation with God; procure for them life and immortality; bearing their iniquities and healing all their diseases; then died he only for those that are in the even sanctified, purged, redeemed, justified, etc” (John Owen, Works, 10:214).

3. The doctrine of universal redemption leads to absurd consequences.
   a. (R. S. Candlish) If it is true that Christ died for all human beings, then what about those who perished before Christ who on Good Friday were already in Hell? By what theological argument can we hold to say that Jesus died for Judas Iscariot?

4. Double-justice
   a. Augustus Toplady (1740-1778)

      i. Faith Reviving

      From whence this fear and unbelief?
      Hath not the Father put to grief
      His spotless Son for me?
And will the righteous Judge of men
Condemn me for that debt of sin
Which, Lord, was charged on Thee?

Complete atonement Thou hast made,
And to the utmost farthing paid
Whate’er Thy people owed;
How then can wrath on me take place
If sheltered in Thy righteousness,
And sprinkled with Thy blood?

If Thou hast my discharge procured,
And freely in my room endured
The whole of wrath divine,
Payment God cannot twice demand—
First at my bleeding Surety’s hand,
And then again at mine.

Turn then, my soul, unto thy rest!
The merits of thy great High Priest
Have bought thy liberty;
Trust in His efficacious blood,
Nor fear thy banishment from God,
Since Jesus died for thee!

5. Relevant NT passages

a. Eph. 5:25
b. John 17:19
c. 2 Cor. 5:21—everyone who is Christ is righteous. Did Christ die for those who never become righteous?
d. Gal. 1:4—Christ actually died with a view of ontological transformation. His intention was to set us free.
e. 1 Peter 3:18—he died to bring us to God.
f. Gal. 3:13ff—there is a link between redemption from the curse of the law and the application of the blessing of Abraham. They are inseparably linked in the divine purpose.

6. “All” and “world” passages – a problem for limited atonement? These are Scriptures commonly used by those who support Unlimited atonement:

a. John 1:29 (KJV)—“The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world.”
b. John 3:14-18—"And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life. For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life. For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved. He who believes in Him is not condemned; but he who does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.”

c. 2 Cor. 5:14-15—"For the love of Christ compels us, because we judge thus: that if One died for all, then all died; and He died for all, that those who live should live no longer for themselves, but for Him who died for them and rose again.”

d. 1 Timothy 2:3-6—For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Savior, who desires all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth. For there is one God and one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus, who gave Himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time.”

e. 1 Timothy 4:10—"For to this end we both labor and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Savior of all men, especially of those who believe.”

f. Titus 2:11 (ESV)—"For the grace of God has appeared, bringing salvation for all people."

g. 2 Pet 2:1—"They will secretly introduce destructive heresies, even denying the sovereign Lord who bought them.” This appears to indicate that Christ “bought” some who are not among the elect.

h. 2 Peter 3:9 (KJV)—"The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.

i. 1 John 2:2—"And He [Christ] Himself is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the whole world.”

These are Scriptures commonly used by those who deny Unlimited atonement:

a. John 10:2-5,11,14-15”—But he who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. To him the doorkeeper opens, and the sheep hear his voice; and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out. And when he brings out his own sheep, he goes before them; and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice. Yet they will by no means follow a stranger, but will flee from him, for they do not know the voice of strangers...I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd gives His life for the sheep...I am the good shepherd; and I know My sheep, and am known by My own. As the Father knows Me, even so I know the Father; and I lay down My life for the sheep.” This is usually reconciled by pointing out that Jesus died for everyone in theory, but He did it particularly for those who would follow Him.

b. John 17:9—”...I do not pray for the world but for those whom You have given Me, for they are Yours.” This is usually reconciled by claiming that this does not refer to the atonement itself.

c. Acts 20:28—”Therefore take heed to yourselves and to all the flock, among which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers, to shepherd the church of God which He purchased with His own blood.” This again is often reconciled by saying that Christ’s death is only effective for those who come to the church, even though it is potentially effective for all.

d. Romans 8:33-34—”Who shall bring a charge against God’s elect? It is God who justifies. Who is he who condemns? It is Christ who died, and furthermore is also risen, who is even at the right hand of God, who also makes intercession for us.” Attempts to reconcile this may point to the fact that in the unlimited view, Christ still only intercedes for those who follow Him.

e. Ephesians 5:25—”Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for her.” This is usually reconciled by saying that He did it particularly for those who would follow Him, although it was potentially effective for all.

(See Sinclair Ferguson, ““ in David Gibson & Jonathan Gibson, From Heaven He Came and Sought Her: Definite Atonement in Historical, Biblical, Theological, and Pastoral Perspective (Crossway, 2013).

Born near Oban in 1800, son of CoS minister. Became minister of Parish of Row in 1825. Five years later charged with two counts of teaching contrary to WCF:

- That Christ died for all humanity
- That assurance was of the essence of faith and necessary for salvation

His views resurrected by T. F. Torrance and J. B. Torrance and the opposition to “Federal Calvinism.” T. F. Torrance’s Scottish Theology bore the subtitle, From John Knox to John MacLeod Campbell. Torrance spends the climactic portion of the book dealing with Campbell appreciatively, especially noting that he saw substitutionary atonement and limited atonement as two sides of the same coin.

Arose from a pastoral observation that his own flock lacked assurance. He observed that his preaching was being heard as a demand for greater (self) righteousness. He became convinced that his turning of grace into a demand and his congregation’s lack of assurance were the results of Federal Calvinism twin emphasis upon

- Particular redemption
- Assurance was the fruit of observing evidences of grace according to Perkins formula/syllogism –
  - All true Christians bear the fruits of the Spirit
  - I can discern such fruits in my life
  - Therefore I am a Christian

By 1928, universal atonement became more prominent in his preaching.

Campbell rarely argued exegetically; rather polemically.

1) Penal substitutionary, definite atonement makes justice a necessary attribute of God but love an arbitrary one.

According to Campbell, in Federal Theology, God must be just but “love” is arbitrary. But God “is love. We are to love our enemies which implies that God loves his enemies. The atonement therefore must be universal.
Confusion of character and relationship. The former exists independently of the latter, but is manifested variously in the context of the latter. It is just for the loving God to hate sin. Malachi 1:2-3 “Jacob have I loved, Esau have I hated.” No exegesis can make this to mean that God loves Jacob and Esau in the same way. Similarly, the Jesus who commands us to :love our enemies” in Matt. 5:44, says to some “I never knew you, depart from me” (7:23), and consigns them to outer darkness (8:12).

Confusion of “justice” with “punitive justice”. The former is an essential attribute; the latter is a relational response.

Hermeneutical issue of extracting from a single statement an entire theological hammer for every other statement.

2) Federal Calvinism makes the divine-human relationship essentially legal rather than filial.

But the filial standing is itself a legal one. WCF contains a chapter on adoption! Even the covenant of works was essentially gracious. It was implicitly promissory.

3). Forgiveness is prior to repentance. It is actually prior to the atonement itself. This is a massive statement about the priority of grace. If repentance is a requirement, grace cannot be “free” was his argument. It was for this reason (Torrance argues) that Calvin taught that repentance follows, rather than precedes, forgiveness. (but this is a slight of hand because Jesus launches the gospel “repentance and forgiveness of sins” (Luke 24:47; cf. Acts 2:38).

If forgiveness precedes repentance, I am already forgiven. What need is there then for the atonement? Or faith? Torrance appeals to Calvin here! This is misunderstand Calvin (and Luther) for whom repentance was the whole of our lives.

If forgiveness is not conditional upon atonement, then forgiveness is possible without atonement. It is to confuse a divine disposition with a divine act.

4) Atonement is not a work of penal substitution that justly grounds forgiveness but a perfect confession of our sins.

Jesus “reents” for us without any consciousness of personal sin. It is empathy only. It was expiatory but not substitutionary. There is no imputation of our guilt and punishment. Substitution is unworthy of God. “Cosmic Child-abuse.”

But in Campbell’s understanding, there is rationale for the cross as such. He feels our sin (in GetHoly Spiritemane, sure, but why the cross). Moberly’s litmus test: the cry of dereliction.
Apply the “non-assumptus” formula: is Christ did experience what we deserve to experience, then he has not atoned for it.

5) Only this view sets us free to enjoy assurance.

But the warrant of faith is not that we know that Christ died for me but in the promise that he will save to the uttermost those who come unto God through Christ (Heb. 7:25). Nor is assurance rooted in the knowledge of election or the identity of those for whom Christ died. These are often misunderstandings.

• We will be headed back to the US for several months in order for me (Sebastien) to apply for (and, God willing, obtain) US citizenship. Before we leave on May 6th, however, we need to know what to do with our house here: either to sublet or to put all our belongings in storage until we return. At this point, we haven’t had any takers and don’t really want to wait too much longer so as to avoid unnecessary difficulties. I also need to make sure that all my documents for citizenship are in order before we leave. Would you pray for us as regards our house as well as for me to make sure I really have all that I need.
