The Hawaii Kai Church Early Learning Center (HKCELC) continues to monitor the COVID-19 (Coronavirus) situation, and how it is affecting our community. Late this afternoon, Mayor Kirk Caldwell issued an emergency “stay at home” order for O’ahu through April 30th. As such, HKCELC will continue to be closed through the month of April. Tuition for the month of April will not be charged.

We will continue to keep you informed regarding the date that school will resume. At this time, we are hopeful that date will be May 1st. However, due to the ever-changing nature of this pandemic, we will continue to stay abreast of the situation and communicate accordingly.

Our staff will be reaching out to you shortly with resources that may be helpful during this time. We encourage you to visit our church website, www.hawaiiikaichurch.org for prayer requests, weekly sermons, and other church-related updates. Please know that we will continue to pray for you and your family as we trust in a powerful and gracious God to see us through this season.

Blessings,
Hawaii Kai Church Early Learning Center Administration
