

I believe the Lord would encourage us. Behold, today, I am awakening hearts in this church. The sun is rising, and the night is no more. Wake up, my people, open your eyes, and see that the enemy is defeated. A new dawn is approaching. A dawn of change, of hope, and of peace. Open your eyes and see that I am good, and I am moving in your midst. Surrender your hearts to me, for I desire to do even more in each and every one of you.