

This is the book in the Bible that begins, "Vanity of Vanity, says the Teacher, vanity of vanities! All is vanity" (Ecc 1:2). Doesn't that just make you feel chipper. One pastor said of this book, "Sounds like Solomon needs a hug."

Martin Luther said of Ecclesiastes, "We should read this noble little book every day, precisely because it so firmly rejects sentimental religiosity!" In other words, this book can yank us out of a religious daze.

It is perfectly relevant to us. It speaks to finding satisfaction in knowledge, wealth, pleasure, work, fame and sex. It is not enough to say that we are living in a culture that seeks to find meaning in these things. Do we not often find ourselves facing the emptiness of these things in the world?

Ever feel like you are chasing the wind? Ecclesiastes is your friend. Those struggling with purpose and meaning will read Ecclesiastes and say, "He gets it! He feels what I feel!"

The book distinguishes between vain pursuits and meaningful living with a stinging clarity. It does not affirm or justify cynicism, skepticism, or fatalism. It doesn't say life is meaningless. It reveals what is meaningless and vain pursuits in life. It is often convicting and it is insightful all the way through. It reveals vain pursuits and presents a life that matters.

Pray. Read. Listen.

May God build up the body of Christ as we get into this book of the Bible to see "Joy, Sorrow, Vanity, and What Really Matters in Life".

Spectacular Sins:

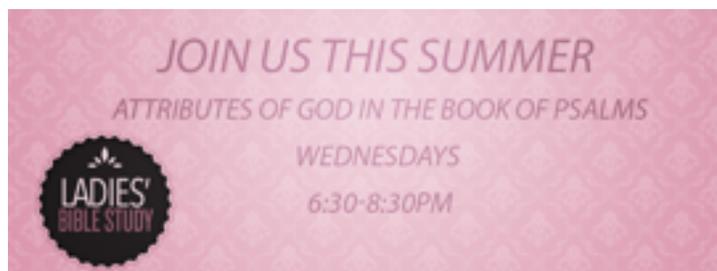

And Their Global Purpose in The Glory of Christ
by John Piper

What a weird title. Sin as spectacular? Is this a Christian book? Well, in short, yes. John Piper calls us to behold the mightiness and strength of God over everything—even sin, even natural disaster. Everything serves the good purpose of God. Available in the book stall.

NEW TREASURER!

Hey Milwood, Carol Longman has served faithfully as our treasurer for years! Praise God for her service. On Sunday, after Carol's move to Georgetown, we elected Marissa Edwards as our Treasurer. Praise God for Marissa and try to encourage her in this ministry!

Location: MIlwood Baptist Church

Contact Stephanie Lindsey (slindsey5900@gmail.com) for questions.

BAPTIST FAITH AND MESSAGE Q&A

Sundays after worship.

There is a lot in the Baptist Faith and Message. It has served as our statement of faith for many years. But maybe you've not looked at it in detail. Maybe you have questions regarding the sections on "God's Purpose of Grace", "Peace and War", or "The Family". Our BFM Q&As are simply a chance to discuss the BFM in detail with our Elders. Join us after worship July 26 and August 30.

Help us tell Janet's BOH Story!

Deidox Films is a non-profit film production company that is looking to produce a short documentary film about Janet Kilgo and Bundles of Hope. Deidox creates high-quality content for over 500 pastors and ministry leaders, reaching over 60,000 people in churches across the country. Our desire is to use Janet's faithfulness to God's calling in her life to encourage others to find ways to live out their faith in the gospel.

We are looking to raise funds to cover the costs of initial production materials and crew. If you are interested in helping support this film, please contact Michael Davenport michael@deidox.com for more information on how to give. You can also find more general information at deidoxfilms.org. (Deidox Films is a registered 501(c)(3) non-profit ministry, so all donations are tax-deductible)

Mark your calendars for the following events happening this summer at Milwood!
