

BIG QUESTIONS JESUS WANTS YOU TO ANSWER

“Why do you call me, ‘Lord, Lord,’ and do not do what I say?” This question is asked by Jesus to an audience after His sermon. It is a question that we must wrestle with as followers. There is more to being a Christian than simply saying you are a Christian.

1. If Jesus were to speak to you directly, would he ask you this question? When you look at your life, is there an area that you are holding back?

2. In Matthew’s version of the Sermon on the Mount, there are a lot of topics covered. Is there anything that you do that contradicts any of His teachings?

3. Jesus says that when the rains come, a man’s true character shows through. A person that is playing church will respond negatively when opposition arises, and a true follower sticks to what he knows to be right. When have you seen this displayed in your own life? In the life of another?

4. Is there any other person, group, or idea that has more of your allegiance in an area of your life? Are you calling another Lord?
